

Cheque Mate is a Hip hop group from Durban, which has been around for almost 10 years now after breaking a record of being the unsurpassed hip hop dance crew formerly known as Warrior Knights. They have appeared on our TV screens a couple of times and have worked with most trusted brands/companies in South Africa namely Red bull. You will probably remember them taking the crown on Jika Majika, a dance show broadcasted on SABC1, competed up to the Semi-finals on SA's Got Talent, Battle of The Giants, Masters of rhythm and many more.

Through love and passion for the craft, in 2016 they decided to branch out to doing music too; hence they have rebranded themselves to Cheque Mate. Their first single titled “Dudlu” is set to make everyone, young or old dancing to the groove of the rhythm. Their strong hip hop background/culture defines each of them as individuals and sets them apart from other groups. Besides from music and dance they have a company called Cheque Mate Entertainment that produces musicians and dancers they also have their own branded merchandise. The colour that best describes them is Black and White, they believe in the power of unity and peace among different nations but most of all freedom of expression, it can either be vocally or physically.
